Allowable Subject Matter

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: After reviewing the amendment, remarks and terminal disclaimer filed on June 24, 2005, the claims were found to be allowable since no prior art could be found teaching or suggesting a method and apparatus of collecting a blood sample comprising: providing a sampling tool comprising a needle and a skin stretching member having opposing surfaces at least partially surrounding the needle, wherein the needle and the skin stretching member are independently movable relative to one another along a path substantially parallel to an axis of the needle, as claimed in Claim 11; providing a fluid collection device comprising a piston having a distal surface, a needle operatively connected to the piston and having a distal end extending a distance from the distal piston surface, and a pressure surface adjacent the needle, the piston and the pressure surface being independently movable relative to one another along a path substantially parallel to the axis of the needle, as claimed in Claim 15; a skin stretching member having opposing surfaces at least partially surrounding the needle, wherein the needle and the skin stretching member are independently movable relative to one another along a path substantially parallel to an axis of the needle, as claimed in Claim 24; and a pressure surface adjacent the needle, the piston and the pressure surface being independently movable relative to one another along a path substantially parallel to the axis of the needle, as claimed in Claim 29.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably
